

Description

For my pottery drawing there are two different olympic scenes. Both sides show the scenes in live action. On the left side, the drawing shows the olympic runners. The runners are in a close group together. This represents a close race. The runners are in red and the background is black. For the right side, the scene represents olympic wrestling. The scene shows an obvious winner and loser. The wrestlers are in black and the background is red. On the top and bottom of the pot there are different designs. These designs have a combination of black and red patterns. This pottery design showcases the different games held in the Ancient Greek Olympics.
